

Dear Colleagues!

On October 03-05, 2019, in Minsk, the XIIth China-Russia-Belarus Workshop

«PERSPECTIVE PLASMA TECHNOLOGIES 2019»

(PPT-2019) will be held.

Organizers:

Institute for Nuclear Problems of Belarusian State University (Belarus)
Belarusian State University (Belarus)
Tomsk Polytechnic University (Russia)
Dalian University of Technology (China)

Organizing committee:

Hongbin Ding (Dalian, China), Gennady Remnev (Tomsk, Russia), Alexandra Baranova (Tomsk, Russia), Vladimir Uglov (Minsk, Belarus), Sergey Maksimenko (Minsk, Belarus), Vladimir Makarenko (Minsk, Belarus)

The Organizing Committee has the honor to invite you to give an invited talk in the XIIth China-Russia-Belarus Workshop

The joint tripartite International Workshop aims to provide a forum for scientists and technologists from three participating countries specializing in the field of beam and plasma technologies and their use for fabrication of novel functional materials and coatings. Properties of materials including nanocarbon-based structures will be discussed with the focus on aeronautical applications. Assistance in training of specialists in these areas, as well as preparation of joint research projects are also in the scope of the Workshop.

Workshop's Topics:

- New materials production (nanomaterials, materials for aerospace, biomaterials, materials for fusion and fission reactors and etc.)
- Advance plasma sources and diagnostics
- Plasma and surface interaction
- Commercial plasma and pulsed beams applications
